

The bachelor thesis titled "The Role and methods of work as a probation officer with the juvenile offender" is composed of two parts, theoretical and practical. The theoretical part is determined by the basic definitions related to youth and offenders. Further defines a person of a probation officer for children and young people, content the profession and the use of methods of social work. On the basis of qualitative research is to develop a practical part, which consists of case studies for young people who are in a difficult life situation in which they are trying to help a social worker for children and youth.